

Free Inclusion!
Kitchen Pantries Editorial Feature!

HOUSE & HOME & GARDEN OF GREATER NASHVILLE will feature Kitchen Pantries in the January/February issue. We wish to include as many sources as possible, so please complete and return this questionnaire. This is a FREE editorial feature. If you have photography (including literature) please send it. Thanks for your cooperation.

Deadline is December 5!

Talk about how kitchen pantries have changed over the past several years. Talk about their size and function. Talk about kitchens with large walk-in pantries that function much as butler's pantries of old, as well as those with large pull-out units that are within the main body of the kitchen. Talk also about the new butler's pantries.

What's the latest trend for kitchen pantries in new construction? Are there special considerations when remodeling versus when contemplating new construction? What types of pantries are we likely to see in remodeled spaces?

Is there a trend toward seeing some food preparation space in new pantries? Storage of small appliances? use of storage space for "bulk buying" storage? Other trends, consumer preferences?
